The deal reached in Brussels by representatives of the EU, the IMF and eurozone governments also sets out terms for debt restructuring by Athens. The European Union and International Monetary Fund have endorsed a three-year bailout programme worth €110bn (£93.6bn), which will also cover aid to some of Greece's banks and other institutions. In return, the eurozone said it would be prepared to lend Greece money, or buy up its debt if it needs to. "I am very proud to present today a substantial and comprehensive package for Greece, an action plan which will allow 82157476af
